SECTION 508 POLICY STATEMENT

To whom it may concern:

Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended by Congress in the Workforce Investment Act of 1998, requires that electronic and information technology used by Federal agencies be accessible to people with disabilities.

Section 508 applies to all Federal agencies when they develop, procure, maintain or use electronic and information technology. The law requires agencies to provide disabled employees and disabled members of the public with access to electronic and information technology that is comparable to the access available to all others.

Section 508 creates a strong incentive for companies that manufacture and market technology products to add or enhance accessibility features in their products. The law does not regulate the technology industry or require private companies to alter their products. It does, however, establish accessibility standards that any technologies must endeavor to meet before a Federal agency can purchase them.

Pixamettic Solutions LLC supports the goals of Section 508, and we are committed to evaluating ways to make our products more accessible to everyone, including individuals with disabilities or age-related impairments. Our commitment allows us to assist the Federal government in making accessible technology choices.
